Addition through Collaboration: Dr. Marrero on Cultural Differences Between Campuses

During the interview, Dr. Marrero explained how he seeks to balance the identities of Georgia Southern's different campuses, especially considering the long history of Armstrong State University before the 2018 consolidation with Georgia Southern.

Op-Ed: Why are the Campus COVID-19 Numbers Still Newsworthy?

Now, a year later, with the pattern well established that this disease behaves like many other diseases, at least in regard to patterns of infection, it makes me wonder why COVID-19 numbers are still one of the most-read topics in the George-Anne Inkwell.

Georgia Southern's Annual Security Report \(ASR\) was released on Sept. 24, 2021 and detailed statistics from all campuses regarding reported crimes and disciplinary actions that occurred within campus property.

With few exceptions, all reported statistics were significantly lower in 2020 than they were in 2019. These examples are most obvious when reading the information regarding the Statesboro campus.
